He was such a nice guy, but he was not organized.	3	3
Howard is great. Funny and welcoming. However, the material can sometimes get difficult and grading is tough and at some times arbitrary. But overall very interesting for someone interested in IR.	5	5
Howard made the best out of a somewhat thankless task. His session was supposed to cover two lectures, repeat content, go more in-depth were the lectures were unclear, respond to individual student requests, foster debate, and teach academic skills - within 50 minutes per week. He did a great job at this, always offering support and trying to find new ways to make the learning more pleasant and more productive.	4	4
The section discussion is helpful in understanding the lecture material.	4	5
This course did a great job at providing clarification on subject matters taught in lecture by encouraging discussion between classmates and allowing us to pool our knowledge together to better understand the topics.	4	4

Fall 2017: POLSCI 160D.02D (5847)

What would you like to say about this course to a student who is considering taking it in the future?	Avg. Overall the course was:	Avg. Overall, instructor 1 was:
A lot of information is taught in this course. As an intro course, it describes multiple different facets of IR. I enjoyed this class but I spent majority of my time doing the readings/studying for this class. I would recommend taking this class if you think you have any interest in foreign policy or international relations, but be prepared to work hard.	4	4
Howard is great! Highly recommend taking the section with him. He does a great job of facilitating discussion and getting people talking in a constructive way. He challenges your ideas and encourages you to probe your own reasoning.	4	5
Speak up in discussion and debate.	5	5

Discussion section was very helpful in being able to ask questions and further discuss the topics from lecture. Howard was wonderful in answering questions and persuading us to think beyond what we know about the IR system.	4	4
It needs to be longer per class.	5	5
the discussion sections were my gavorite.	4	5
